All entrants must comply with the terms and conditions of the competition. The competition will run for about three months beginning 14th October 2004. All essays must be accompanied by a completed entry form and a 300-word summary, which must be received no later than 15th January 2005.

The winning essays will be selected by a panel of judges comprising representatives from the ESS, MAS, private sector and government ministries.

2. The title of the essay for 2004 (in both the Pre-University and University categories) is "Is Our Education System Able to Meet the Challenges of Globalisation?" Essays should provide an in-depth assessment of Singapore's education system against a backdrop of rapid globalisation. In particular, essays should examine the recent changes in our education system and discuss whether these changes would enable us to meet the challenges and opportunities posed by an increasingly integrated and competitive world. Essays should also provide proposals, where applicable, as to how we should further refine our education system going forward.

3. The essays should be of a high quality, providing new analyses and perspectives of issues. The essays should also be written such that they are accessible to a wide audience. They are therefore not meant to be academic 'journal-style' papers.

5. The essays must be original in their content. Entries found to contain plagiarism will automatically be disqualified. This could involve the application of previous work in a different context, or new analysis or perspectives significantly different from previous work. A bibliography acknowledging reference to previous work done is required.
6. All entries must be accompanied by a completed Entry Form(s), signed by the author(s). For joint authorship, only one entry form is required. Submission on behalf of an institution or firm is not permitted.
